

Web Development Service Terms

These Web Development Service Terms ("Terms") govern the provision of web development services ("Services") by the Provider to the Client. By engaging in our Services, you agree to the Terms below:

1. Scope of Services: The Provider will design, develop, and deliver a website based on the specifications agreed upon with the Client.
2. Client Responsibilities: The Client agrees to provide all necessary content, materials, and information required for the completion of the Services in a timely manner.
3. Payment Terms: The Client will pay the Provider according to the fee schedule outlined in the project agreement.
4. Intellectual Property: Upon full payment, all rights, title, and interest in the developed website will be transferred to the Client.
5. Confidentiality: Both parties will maintain confidentiality regarding all proprietary information shared during the project.
6. Limitation of Liability: The Provider will not be liable for any indirect or consequential damages arising from the use of the Services.
7. Termination: Either party may terminate the agreement by providing written notice. Any work completed up to the termination date must be compensated.
8. Governing Law: These Terms are governed by the laws of the applicable jurisdiction.
